

PRICE EULENBERG CHARGED WITH PERJURY COLLAPSES AT TRIAL

Accused, Former Prime Favorite of Emperor William and Power Behind the Throne, Had to Be Carried from Court Room in an Ambulance and Judge Immediately Adjourned Trial

Case Grew Out of Harden Libel Suit, Founded on Charges that Members of Round Table Clique, Including Prince Philip, Indulged in Degenerate Practices—Kaiser Received Special Telegraphic Reports of Trial at Kiel Today.

(Special from United Press.)
Berlin, July 7.—With a special staff of stenographers attending to transmit detailed telegraphic reports to the Kaiser at Kiel, the trial of Prince Philip von Eulenberg, formerly the prime favorite of the Emperor and the most powerful man behind the scenes at the German court, began to-day. Prince Eulenberg is charged with perjury and with inciting perjury. The Emperor's desire to keep in close touch with the trial of his former favorite led to the placing of a special inferior officer in the courtroom to supply the Kaiser with the latest news. A direct telegraph line to Kiel from the courthouse has also been installed, and relays of stenographers transmit the verbatim report of the proceedings to His Majesty. The interest shown in the Eulenberg trial far exceeds that shown in the Moltke case or any other recent German trial. Long before the now feeble 63 year old Prince was carried from his automobile to an invalid chair in the courtroom, all approaches of the court room had been crowded. The Prince, accompanied by his wife who is still a beautiful woman despite her sixty years, and his sons, two young men, were among the first to enter the courtroom. Despite his feebleness, he answered the questions of Judge Kausow in a clear voice, emphatically declaring his innocence.

REAL SQUARE RIGGER

BRITISH BRIG HERE
The British brig, Harry, Captain Zimp, arrived in Bridgeport last evening, and at 6:30 was docked at the wharf of the Miller Lumber Company. The brig was met offshore by Pilot Lewis and the trip to the wharf was made without incident. The Harry is the first British brig to arrive in this port in many months. Although only 36 feet in length, she is a genuine "square rigger."
Previous to her sailing for Connecticut the Harry completed successful voyages to China, Spain and other countries of the Orient. She carries a mixed cargo of lumber, which was loaded at her home port, Bay Shore at the headwaters of the St. Lawrence river.

WRIGHTS BACK ON JOB TODAY

(Special from United Press.)
Washington, July 7.—The Wrights are back on the job. Offering no explanation of the mysterious trip to New York yesterday, Wright put in an appearance at the Supreme Court only a short time after the arrival of his brother Orville from Dayton. The latter had journeyed to the aeroplane shop there to have some of the canvas and other materials with which to repair the damages caused by last Friday's accident.
Nobody knows where the flights will be resumed and neither of the brothers will venture a prediction although they declare that the repairs will be finished in a day or two.

CAPSIZED BOAT CLAIMED TODAY

(Special from United Press.)
South Norwalk, July 7.—The mystery surrounding the sailboat which was found capsized and tossed about on the sound last Sunday by the Standard Oil boat "Deliverer" was cleared up to-day when George G. Frye, of Rye, N. Y., arrived here and claimed the vessel, which is at present in Rowayton harbor. When the boat was discovered Sunday it was feared that the occupants had been drowned. Frye stated that he and two companions were sailing in the American Yacht Club regatta when the boat was abandoned it and swam ashore.

NEW CLUE IN POLICE SEARCH FOR LEON LING

(Special from United Press.)
New York, July 7.—Another story is now under investigation by the police in their search for the slayer of Elsie Sigel. The "new" clue is based on the fact that Leon Ling, the missing Chinaman, was killed at the same time that Elsie Sigel was strangled in Leon's room and that a Chinaman who carried a murder to the body of Leon to New Haven, Conn., in a trunk on June 9 or 10.
The information that leads the police to this line of investigation was unearthed by Miss Rose Livingston, a missionary worker who had been working with Captain Carey of the Honolulu Bureau in his efforts to unravel the mystery. Miss Livingston told Captain Carey that she learned in Chinatown that the Chinaman with the trunk left New Haven on the steamer Richard Peck and that she had been told he went to Fall River from New Haven. Captain Carey communicated with Chief of Police Coville of New Haven and asked him to trace the clues.

FINAL VOTES ON BOY TRAMP FOUND WITH TOWEL, GUN AND CAKE OF SOAP

SENATOR ALDRICH OUTLINES PROGRAM BEFORE SENDING MEASURE BACK TO HOUSE

Hundreds of Amendments

Senators Mention Several Amendments Which Will Be Made Subject to Special Consideration, But Those Agreed Upon in Committee of Whole Will Be Adopted by a Single Vote.

(Special from United Press.)
Washington, July 7.—When the Senators assembled to-day to take the final votes on the tariff bill preparatory to sending it back to the House with the hundreds of amendments, that have been tacked on it, they were refreshed by a brisk, cooling breeze and seemed in the best of health and spirits. Senator Aldrich was on his feet immediately after routine business had been disposed of, to announce the program of the day. It was his plan to have all of the amendments which had been agreed to by the Senate sitting as a committee of the whole and to which there was no objection, adopted without further delay. Senators were invited to mention such of the amendments as they wished to be made subject to special consideration in separate votes. After the committee amendment had been disposed of, he said, individual Senators might propose their own amendments for action.

Half a dozen Senators arose to make their reservations from the list of committee amendments and nearly an hour was spent in setting aside paragraphs in sections which are to be voted upon separately.
Senator Bailey of Texas headed the list with the request that the corporation tax provision be set aside. He will offer the Bailey-Cummins income tax amendment as a substitute for the provision. Hepburn (Republican, Idaho) reserved sine and Stone (Democrat, Missouri) likewise reserved. Beveridge of Indiana, named watch movements although he said perhaps he would reach an agreement with the committee on that article. He also held out steel rails. Foraker of Pennsylvania held out plate glass and McLaurin of Mississippi, furniture.

Some other reservations included: Cotton-ties and meats, sugar, wool-waste and shoddy, the Philippine section, maximum and minimum, customs cost, and countervailing duties, moving picture films, chalk, sugar and writing paper, tariff commission, mineral waters, ties, asphalt, earthen ware, steel pipe, and other miscellaneous articles. When the young tramp was caught on the boy's trunk, he was wearing a suit and carried the towel and soap he took with him when he left home last Friday to go in swimming. He also had an ingersoll watch which he took along with him when he started out on his tramp.

INSANE GIRL MAY BE DEPORTED BY U. S. AUTHORITIES

Annie Penak is Insane as Were Her Mother and Grandmother Before Her in Austria.

The Charities department which has investigated the case of Annie Penak, aged 19, who was committed to Middle town on April 29, has discovered that there has been insanity in her family for three generations. They will report her case to the State department with the idea of having her deported to Austria, from which country she is from. The girl has been in this country for less than two years. She was employed as a domestic in Stratford. She came to Bridgeport to visit her uncle, Alexander McKarra, at 856 Osden street. McKarra says that he paid the young woman's passage to this country and that her mother and her grandmother before her were crazy. The inquiry was made by Investigator Alexander Morrissey.

RIOTING AND DISORDER MARK MINERS' STRIKE

(Special from United Press.)
Glance Bay, N.S., July 7.—Rioting and disorder marked the strike of the miners in the Dominion Coal Company's collieries to-day. While trying to induce members of the Provincial Workmen's Association to leave the collieries, a resident of the United Mine Workers of America became involved in a fight which terminated in the arrest of a dozen men. The Dominion Coal Company had been set upon and badly beaten.
The Canadian members of the Provincial Workmen's Association are accused over the election of the American organization's troubles in the Canadian field and they are doing all they can to break the strike. The strikers have won over many members of the Canadian Association however, and are "picketing" the shaft entrances to prevent their returning to work.

It is reported to-day and several of the workmen were set upon last night and beaten until they promised not to return to work to-day. Several attempted to enter mine No. 2 this morning were set upon by the strikers and the following disorder prevented any work in the mine until the police drove the strikers back with their revolvers.

Lengthy Conference Over Chinese Loan

(Special from United Press.)
London, July 7.—German and French financiers held a lengthy formal conference to-day with English bankers and Willard N. Straight, formerly United States Consul at Mukden who represents the American banking syndicate trying to secure participation for American financiers in the Hankow-Seachun Railroad loan. The conference lasted until night and nothing was given out as to what agreement if any had been reached.
The German bankers are against allowing American participation in the loan while the English and French bankers are inclined to be favorable.

PRISONER TELLS STORY OF LIFE

MOST REMARKABLE CASE MAGISTRATE CRANE HAS EVER HAD TO DEAL WITH

Is Locked Up for Arson

Wright Confesses to Burning His Art Stores in New York, Providence, Quebec, Spokane and Amesbury—Held in Default of $10,000—Await Action of Grand Jury

(Special from United Press.)
New York, July 7.—Confessing that he had burned successfully his art stores in this city, Providence, R. I., Quebec, Spokane and Amesbury, Mass., James Hunter Wright who last night asked to be locked up on a charge of arson, told a most remarkable story to Magistrate Crane in the Tombs court to-day, when arraigned. The evidence and the man's story showed that he would probably never have been convicted on any charge but he said, "My conscience has been troubling me for years and a great relief has followed by confession. I feel that this will cleanse my record before the world and I am willing to do penance."

Wright is a man about 50 years of age, gray haired and mild looking. He said that he had slept last night for the first time in years since he was glad to be in jail. With a clear voice, the prisoner told the story of his life to Magistrate Crane who declared that was the most remarkable case he had ever had to deal with.
At the age of nine he was left an orphan, said the prisoner, and was adopted by the Rev. Alexander Fisher, his uncle, an Episcopal clergyman of Massachusetts. Later he moved to Shelbourne Falls, Mass., where he met a man named Harvey and the two decided to go into the art business together. He and Harvey moved to New York in 1894 and started an art goods store on Broadway. On December 26, 1905, the prisoner said he set fire to the place and he and Harvey moved the goods they had saved to Providence where they opened another store. There was no insurance on the New York stock he said and he had just burned the place because business was failing.

At Providence there was another fire and they collected $203 insurance. Then they moved to Quebec where there was another fire in four weeks. The next store was opened at Spokane and a fire there put them out of business.
"We owed $21,000 when we left Spokane," said Wright, "and then we opened a store in Amesbury, Mass., where there was another fire after we had been there three months. We had some insurance on this store, but it was not enough to pay the debt. Then we separated and I came to New York in 1907. I set all the fires and was not under the influence of Harvey. He did not know about the fires until after they had occurred."

Wright acted as a process server for several attorneys after his return to New York. His cousin, John C. Fisher, said that he had been moody for several years and would not sleep or eat well. Assistant District Attorney Turebull said that the confession was voluntary and regular and Wright was held in jail in default of $10,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

THREAT TO BLOW UP NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(Special from United Press.)
New York, July 7.—A squad of fifty of the most experienced detectives on the city force are guarding the million dollar structure of the New York Stock Exchange to-day following the receipt of a letter to the governors of the Exchange last Friday which conveyed the information that an attempt would be made to blow up the Exchange.

The letter said that the confession was voluntary and regular and Wright was held in jail in default of $10,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury.
Extraordinary precautions were taken at once by the police to forestall any attempt and every person attending the Exchange was searched. The threat to destroy the Exchange was made by a crank.
Inspector McCafferty after several hours of the exchange and several conferences with his men on duty there said that in his opinion the threat to destroy the Exchange was made by a crank.

JUDICIARY COMMITTEE REPORTS UNANIMOUSLY FOR REPEAL OF OBNOXIOUS ELECTRIC LIGHTS

Electric Lobby Beaten at Every Point Will Now Rely Upon Amendments Destroying Effect of Repeal—Will Make Last Stand in Senate.

(By Our Staff Correspondent.)
Hartford, July 7.—A substitute report repealing section 3816 of the statutes of the State will go into the Senate tomorrow as the favorable report of the Judiciary committee. The acceptance of this report means a body blow to the electric light monopoly of Connecticut. Despite the efforts of the electric lobby the Judiciary committee has voted to favor the repeal of the obnoxious law. Judge Malone of Bristol, a member of the committee on Judiciary, brought the report into the Senate and handed it to the leader of that body, Senator Searis. The intention of the latter was to submit the report today, but he was prevented from so doing by the unexpected adjournment of the body in the midst of a debate upon the bill relating to the cheating of unclaimed savings bank deposits.

Senator Searis told your correspondent that the report of the committee would be presented tomorrow and that there would be no minority report. He said that the electric light interests now rests with the representatives of the people of the State. It is admitted that the corporations will endeavor to defeat the proposed repeal of the statute by amendments of various kinds. They expect to make their stand in the Senate, as the sentiment in the House is overwhelmingly against them. No little credit is due to the Howland Dry Goods Company for its part in the outcome. It was that firm which first attracted attention to the law.

WILDER CAUTIONS COMMISSIONERS

TOO OFTEN THEY USE BAD JUDGMENT IN APPOINTING SPECIAL POLICE

Special Loperci Fined $5.00

Had a Personal Controversy With Two Painters, Whom He Threatened With His Police Authority—He Takes An Appeal.

"Too often do the Police Commissioners appoint special officers without reasonable cause, and these men often display a lack of discretion in using the privileges granted them. The officers must be more guarded in exercising these privileges than even the ordinary citizen, and must understand that they will not be upheld when they intimidate a man with whom they have a controversy of a personal nature."

Thinks Judge Wilder speak this morning in his impeachment of $5 and costs upon Special Officer Loperci for breach of peace. He was also charged with assault, but a note was entered by the State's attorney, Charles Shapiro asked for an appeal, which was granted under bonds of $50. The trouble arose some time ago when two painters, Hendies and Forese, were working on a house in North Washington avenue, adjoining the dwelling in which Loperci lived. The painters were painting the house hung over Loperci's property, and Loperci objected to the drops of paint falling on his land. The officers said that he was going too far, but he took it into his pocket. Judge Wilder dismissed the assault charge, but found Loperci guilty of breach of peace. The case will be reviewed in the Common Pleas court next September.
